Teacher Preparation for Bilingual Subject Instruction: Development, Implementation, and Reflection

Call for Papers

The School of Teacher Education at National Taiwan Normal University (NTNU) is pleased to announce the International Conference on "Teacher Preparation for Bilingual Subject Instruction: Development, Implementation, and Reflection," scheduled for October 26-27, 2024 (Sat. and Sun.). The conference will feature keynote speeches, panel forums, paper presentations, and subject area workshops.

Keynote speakers include Prof. Wei Li from the Institute of Education at University College London, and Dr. Keith Graham from NTNU's School of Teacher Education. They will share practical approaches and perspectives on bilingual subject teacher education, providing valuable insights for educators involved in bilingual teacher preparation, and fostering academic exchange and discussion. The panel forums will focus on topics such as bilingual subject teaching and the localization of IB education, bringing together bilingual scholars, expert teachers, teacher education program instructors, and pre-service teachers for in-depth dialogue to understand the needs of classroom teaching and enhance the bilingual teacher education process. Paper presentations will be conducted through both invited and open submissions to enhance the academic theory and practice of bilingual teacher preparation in Taiwan.
