學習心得	Day 1 We are working on our script today. I found that I am no longer afraid of expressing my opinions and I can write the script too! However I was still finding the way on cooperating with the Japanese students because sometimes they do not agree with my ideas or they don't have courage to try to write the script. It was quite a problem! There was another thing that made me unhappy—someone changed the content of my script without discussing with me! But I soon realized that I shouldn't simply complain that made nothing changed! So, I took actions to try to persuade them. It needs both patience and calmness. Fortunately these strategies have worked for making our discussion more efficient. Day 2 We almost changed our topic today! Although I was pretty worried at that time, I still calmed down myself and kept working with my teammates. I told myself not to give up until the end! Memorizing the lines of the script in such a short time was really a great challenge for us! After practicing again and again, we finally went to bed at 2 a.m. :( Day 3 –Presentation Day We were frustrated today because we have almost 100% confident that we must have lost the contest! At that night, we spent our time together working for our presentation because we really wanted to spread out our ideas to the people at the meeting. Day 4—Last Day Although we didn't have chances to present on the stage, we asked many questions to show our participation at the meeting. We also learned a lot during Q &A time. Exchanging ideas made us grow-up! I really enjoy having this chance on joining this meeting. In the discussing process, I learned how to express my ideas and how to communicate with those who have different opinions. Although we suffered from being frustrated, we still worked hard until the end. I really love my teammates and enjoyed the trip in Japan!
